Antioch Bridge Due To Open On Labor Day FIRE DAMAGES BARBER SHOP HERE

T. H. VESTAL BARBER SHOP HIT BY BLAZE

Slight Damage Done by Fire
Owing to Efficiency Of Fire Department

QUICK ACTION COMMENDED

Crowds Still Hamper Operation of Apparatus Despite Repeated Warnings

A blaze resulting in a damage of approximately $25 broke out in the T. H. Vestal barber shop at 1112 Macdonald avenue at 8 p. m. last night. In response to the alarm that was turned in from box 13, at the corner of Macdonald and Twelfth street, Engines No. 2 and 3, Chemical No. 1 and Truck No. 1, rushed to the scene of the conflagration and quickly quenched the fire. The fire was caused by defective gas connections.

The remarkable efficiency of the Richmond fire department was demonstrated last night by the fact that when the alarm was turned in at 8 p. m. the equipment went out, extinguished the blaze and were all back at their respective stations at 8:21 p. m.—exactly 21 minutes.

TIMELY WARNING ISSUED

While discussing the cause of the blaze last night, Chief W. P. Cooper stated that the fire started from a leakage in a defective gas pipe leading to a water heater. He declared that when it is possible the gas lines should be connected directly with the stove, thereby eliminating practically all causes for fire. Numerous kinds of gas pipe are manufactured, Cooper said, and very often they are not tested for fire prevention, thus constituting a dangerous fire hazard. Cooper announced that everyone should make sure that their stoves are connected satisfactorily with the gas line so that no danger of fire can result.

CROWDS HAMPER WORK

The fire chief also stated that the crowds have not yet heeded warnings that have been issued continually to make the way clear for fire apparatus. When he arrived at the scene of the barber shop fire, Cooper declared, he was forced to waste several minutes in pushing his way through the crowd. Cooper declared that hereafter when the right-of-way of the fire fighters was obstructed, the persons guilty of causing the delay would be put under arrest.

During her stay at the hospital the girl did not talk nor throw any light on the circumstances surrounding her strange experience.

FRED LAMOINE JOINS HARRY MARCUS STORE

Fred B. LaMoine, well-known local druggist, business and financial man, has been elected vice-president and director of the Harry Marcus Inc., according to announcement made recently by the officials of the concern.

This election is considered as a very strong addition to the organization in business and financial circles. The coming in to the company of LaMoine adds materially to the strength already in existence in the firm which has Harry Marcus as president and A. J. Bruhn as secretary and treasurer. Every one in Richmond and vicinity is well acquainted with Marcus. Bruhn is connected with the H. K. McCann company of San Francisco which directs all the advertising of the Standard Oil company of California. The new department store of the Marcus Inc., will have Bruhn as its advertising head.

HAD SMALL BEGINNING.

LaMoine has built his drug business up from a very small beginning and now conducts two of the most up-to-date stores in Richmond and is recognized as one of the most outstanding figures in the drug business. He is also connected in realty and financial circles, being president of the Richmond Merchants' association, president of the Rotary club, and has been president of the Northern California Rexall club.

A new building of proportions of 75 by 100 feet will be built by the firm and it is announced that the construction will start very shortly. The building will be built on Tenth street, between Macdonald and Nevin avenues—Richmond's newest shopping center and will contain a first floor, mezzanine and basement. According to plans it will be one of the most up-to-date department stores in the bay district and will contain many departments conducted along city lines.

It is expected that the new location will be ready for occupancy in the early summer and in the meantime the firm will continue to do business at the present location of 727 Macdonald avenue.

Curwood Story is Treat to Readers Record-Herald

Here is a rare treat for readers of the Record-Herald: "Barber, Son of Kazan," a James Oliver Curwood novel, starts in this paper today.

It is the biggest fiction story of the year—a real tale of the North Woods by the famous Curwood—and it is brand new, never before published in any newspaper.

Every American man, boy, woman and child loves a dog—or ought to. And here is the prize dog story—a tale of a husky born in the wilderness of timber wolf breed, who comes to know man and to hate him for his cruelty; who comes to know Nepeese, the beautiful, and to love her and protect her.

An entrancing novel of life in the woods, of men and women with the true hearts of adventures, and above all, of a great and wonderful dog. A Vitagraph picture, with Wolf, the War Dog, is an adaptation of the story.

Read this love epic of the Far North in the Record-Herald, beginning today and running continuously to the end without any breaks between installments.

Besides containing departments dealing in merchandise, the new store will be outfitted with departments for public service, such as rest rooms, telephone booths, branch postoffice, lecture hall, beauty parlors, etc., where old and new customers will be served with the latest men's wear, and children's wear as they are now served in the present location.

The newest merchandise at the lowest market prices will be kept in touch with at a New York office which has been opened by the firm just recently.

According to reports, patrons who own shares in the corporation will share its profits as the store will be conducted along a co-operative line, as is now being done with great success by many of the largest retail organizations in the East, such as the May company, the White House, and the City of Paris.

WESTERN AUTO STORE OPENS FRIDAY NIGHT

The formal opening of the Western Auto Supply Company's Richmond store on Macdonald avenue, will take place on Friday, February 27, between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

During these hours $50 worth of automobile accessories will be given away, an orchestra will offer the latest selections and refreshments will be served.

No merchandise will be sold on Friday, and the evening has been set aside to welcome friends. A big three-day "Get Acquainted" sale will start Saturday, February 28, and continue through Monday and Tuesday, March 2 and 3.

The Richmond store is one of one hundred and eighteen "Western Auto" stores in the western states, and is located on the corner of Eleventh and Macdonald. R. W. Gilbert is store manager. A pleasant evening is assured on the opening night.

WORK ON NEW HIGHWAY SPAN TO BE RUSHED

New Direct Motor Route to Sacramento and Upper California
Opens Labor Day

GARDEN ROUTE ROAD URGED

Carquinez Straits Bridge Also Reported Ahead Schedule; Opening Set for 1926

The Antioch bridge, opening up a new direct motor route to Sacramento and Upper California, will be opened to traffic on Labor Day, according to announcement yesterday by Oscar H. Klatt, secretary of the American Toll Bridge Company, the concern backing the project.

"The work is away ahead of schedule," Klatt said. "All that remains is to put in the bascule lift and foundations are now being laid for that."

SPAN TO RISE

This span, 300 feet long, will rise in the air to permit the passage of river craft.

Already, according to Klatt, one can drive for 1000 feet out on the new bridge, which swings from Antioch to Sherman Island, there connecting with the highway which leads to the state capital on the crest of the river levees.

Of this highway about eleven miles remains to be paved, and that stretch has a graveled surface.

GARDEN HIGHWAY

With the news of the approaching completion of the Antioch bridge, boosters for the "Garden Highway," redoubled their efforts for a route extending through Sacramento along the levees to Marysville. There it would connect with the East Side state highway leading to the Oregon line through Chico and Red Bluff.

The Carquinez Straits bridge also was reported by Klatt as ahead of schedule, with the date of its completion fixed for the fall of 1926.

Easter Pageant At Wesley M. E. Church Will Be Big Production

Plans for an Easter pageant to be presented in the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church on the evening of Easter Sunday, are being completed by the Wesley choir. The first rehearsal will be held in the church parlors Thursday evening at 7:30 and all of the forty people who have been assigned parts in the pageant are requested to be present.

Following is the prologue of the pageant:

"Few Christians of the Twentieth century ever attempt to imagine the feelings and thought experiences of those Christians of the first century who were called to be witnesses to the world concerning the life and death and resurrection of Jesus Christ."

"But for us who are gathered here the centuries will turn backward, and the gates of the past be unlocked; and we shall see a Pageant of the Resurrection. We shall stand outside the gate of Jerusalem, with the sepulcher of Jesus to our right, and shall watch those of old time pass back and forth between the city gate and the tomb. We shall see Peter and John and Thomas and the other disciples. We shall behold the faithful women so sorrowfully to the tomb to anoint the beloved body. We shall see Joseph of Arimathea, and Nicodemus, and the Centurion of Calvary, of whom early Christian tradition says that his name was Longinus, and that he became a Christian bishop and a martyr to the faith. We shall carry awfully with the Jerusalem children, and at last we shall see the procession come back from the glorious scene of the Ascension to face the task of conquering the world."

"And now we will watch the followers of Jesus outside the Jerusalem Wall on the morning of the third day after his death. We will sing 'When I Survey the Wondrous Cross,' and at the close of the hymn the action of the Pageant will begin."

Parts have been assigned in the Pageant as follows, and every participant is requested to be present at their rehearsal at 7:30 tonight:

W. J. Osborne, director, assisted by Mrs. C. G. Lindemann.

RICHMOND GAS RATES RAISED BY COMMISSION

Price of Manufactured Gas Follows Raise in Crude Oil From Which It Is Made

RAISE HERE 6 CTS. THOUSAND

Jump of Seven Cents in Steam Rates Also Authorized By Railroad Commission

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26—Under its rule that the price of manufactured gas in California will follow the price of crude oil, from which it is manufactured, the State Railroad Commission here yesterday boosted the tariff of gas from 5 cents to 8 cents in fifty cities from San Diego to Red Bluff.

The rise follows a jump of 25 cents per barrel in crude oil on February 4.

Gas in San Francisco jumped from $1 to $1.05 per 1,000 cubic feet. Coincident with the boost in gas the commission authorized a jump in steam in the bay district from $1.37 to $1.44 per 1,000 pounds.

The order of the commission, with the companies and cities affected, follows:

The 25 cents increase in fuel oil on February 4, 1925, will increase the present gas rates of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company per thousand cubic feet as follows:

San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, San Jose, Albany, Emeryville, Fruitvale, 5 cents.

City of Palo Alto, 5 cents. Fresno, Sacramento, 6 cents. Hayward, Richmond, San Leandro, Burlingame, Hillsborough, Redwood City, San Mateo, Daly City, South San Francisco, 6 cents.

THE BOSS

A business, in order to be successful, must have a boss. Every successful boss must have a boss. He may not know that he has one, and would wax indignant if the accusation were made, but be assured, that somewhere, there is somebody who bosses him just as effectively as he bosses you. No one is entirely free.

You may envy the boss, and wonder how he ever did it. The truth of the matter is, that he has something that you have not, whether it be brains, money, or good judgment. Anyway, he is giving you orders, and if you do not care to sell your time to him, or think that he is getting the better of the bargain, get out, for there are many others, quite as competent as yourself, who will be glad to take your place.

Do not be angry with the boss if he should mildly censure you. He is probably doing it for your good, or for the good of the business. A broad minded boss never indulges in personalities. And if you would censure him, be sure that there is a little fund put by for a rainy day, for if the boss is not amenable to censure, there is going to be a precipitous period in the very near future.

If you hold an executive position, remember that the big boss worries over you and the other little bosses, just as you worry over the clerk or stenographer who happens to work directly under you. Remember that he has not the time nor the inclination to worry over them, which is the reason that he has hired you to do the worrying for him.

You may come to work in the morning in an unholy humor. You pass every one by, exuding the hatred that you feel, and allowing those with whom you come in contact, to understand that you look mad, feel mad, and what is more, you are mad. Do not condemn the boss, should he happen along in the very same sort of humor. He has a stomach, feelings, pride, or a holdover, just the same as any one else, and they are not immune from injury any more than your own.

Argue with the boss occasionally. He must grow awfully tired of a "yes" man, and every business is full of them. Never allow personalities to enter into your argument, or there will be no further argument, unless the boss allows you to get away with it, after which, he is no longer the boss.

Speaking of bosses, the man who becomes his own boss is the best boss of all. There is no situation that can arise, that he cannot master. When he has mastered himself, he is truly, the most wonderful boss of all.

THE PRISONER A BUSINESS PROBLEM

In an effort to determine how prisoners may be kept at work without becoming a disturbing competitive factor in certain lines of industry, the Department of Manufacture of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has embarked upon a study of the problem of prison labor, which has gone unsolved for forty years.

The Board of Directors of the National Chamber, in directing the continuation of this study, said: "Prison idleness is unthinkable, but we believe care and study can devise some proper measure, both of educational training and prison employment, the production of which shall be devoted primarily to State use and not for general sale."

This plan has already been adopted in some States. None of the prison production is sold in the open market, consequently does not come in competition with private investment or free labor.

"Too often," says the Department of Manufacture, "manufacturing has been used simply as an expedient to prevent unemployment. While it is agreed that the prisoner should not be permitted to exist in idleness, a plan should be worked out whereby his activities should be so directed as to result in improvement in his physical, mental, and moral condition. It should be the chief objective rather than the utilization of the prisoner to defray the cost of his maintenance."

ITALY'S DEBT

Italy will shortly ask for a hearing regarding the funding of her debt to the United States, according to advices received by official circles here. This action on the part of Italy will not only further cement the feeling of good will between the two nations but will, it is believed, ultimately aid in causing the lire to return to par.

It will be noted that England in her settlement with the United States, not only won for herself many words of praise but her action resulted in the pound sterling being restored to par.

This action of Great Britain and the contemplated action of Italy, as well as the action of Poland in funding her debt to the United States should bring the French statesmen to the realization that if France desires to prosper, she must make a definite move regarding the money she owes this country.

Dancing Has Made the Backs of the Spectator Seats Much More of Our Frocks as Important as the Back than of the Front. It is not as if it was in the days of the strictly antique.

A DANCE frock is no longer necessarily an evening frock. For dancing is no longer solely an after-dinner recreation. At most of the European winter resorts, both in the South where the sun worshippers flock, and in the Alps where the snow-lovers foregather for winter sports, the custom at the smart hotels is to have music for dancing at five in the afternoon and at ten in the evening. Late in the afternoon tea drinking gives an excuse for dancing.

You will probably be rejoiced to know that the dressmakers are allowing a little more fullness at the back of skirts for the coming spring. In fact, they are retaining the straight skirt effect and at the same time giving us frocks that have a little more grace. The sketch shows an afternoon dance frock from Paris that illustrates this. It is of powder-blue chiffon with a waistcoat effect at the back and panels falling like labrets at side and back.

GOOD WAY WITH CODFISH

Codfish Balls

TWO cups picked codfish, two cups mashed potatoes, a quarter cup cream or top milk, one tablespoon butter and a little pepper. Pick fish in small pieces, cook in cold water half an hour, drain, and add boiling water to cover. Simmer fifteen minutes, drain, press out water; mix with potatoes and other ingredients. Form in balls, dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot oil.

Creamed and Baked Codfish
Put into a stoneware platter creamed codfish and surround with a border of mashed potatoes beaten light with an egg yolk, cover with cream, dot with butter and brown in the oven.

A QUESTION A DAY

Why is a better steam vegetable than to boil them?
Because when you steam them you retain much of the valuable salts that in boiling are dissipated in the water. Of course, if you consistently pour the water from boiled vegetables into the soup pot these salts are not wasted, but their goodness is eaten in the soup.

WHITE KID BAGS AND GLOVES

The white kid glove is no longer an essential of the get-up of the well-dressed woman. Nevertheless the white kid glove has a decided place at present in the smart woman's mind. White gloves and handbags to match are particularly smart. Usually both bag and glove are piped with bright-colored kid. Sometimes they are embroidered in colors.

WHERE IT STARTED

"THE UPPER CRUST"

This popular phrase, meaning the upper rank of society, originated with the side-crust reggied; the upper crust, which was supposed to be the choicest part, was given to the person highest in rank at the table, and the lower crust distributed to the persons of lesser degree.

BARRE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BARRE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitaphone Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

CHAPTER I

To Barre, for many days after he was born, the world was a vast gloomy cavern.

During these first days of his life his home was in the heart of a great windfall where Gray Wolf, his blind mother, had found a safe nest for his babyhood, and to which Kazan, her mate, came only now and then, his eyes gleaming like strange balls of greenish fire in the darkness.

Barre, of course, would never know their story. He would never know that Gray Wolf, his mother, was a full-blooded wolf, and that Kazan, his father, was a dog. In him nature was already beginning its wonderful work, but it would never, go beyond certain limitations. It would tell him, in time, that his beautiful wolf-mother was blind, but he would never know of that terrible battle between Gray Wolf and the lynx in which his mother's sight had been destroyed. Nature could tell him nothing of Kazan's merciless vengeance, of the wonderful years of their matehood, of their loyalty, their strange adventures in the great Canadian wilderness—it could make him only a son of Kazan.

And then came that wonderful day when the greenish balls of fire that were Kazan's eyes came nearer and nearer, a little at a time, and very cautiously. Heretofore Gray Wolf had warned him back. To be alone was the first law of her wild breed during mothering time. A low snarl from her throat, and Kazan had always stopped. But on this day the snarl did not come. In Gray Wolf's throat it died away in a low, whimpering sound. A note of loneliness, of gladness, of a great yearning. "It is all right now," she was saying to Kazan; and Kazan—pausing for a moment to make sure—replied with an answering note deep in his throat. Still slowly, as if not quite sure of what he would find, Kazan came to them, and Barre snuggled closer to his mother. He heard Kazan as he dropped down heavily on his belly close to Gray Wolf. He was unafraid—and mightily curious.

"He would have slunk back into the friendly gloom of the windfall, but at this moment Gray Wolf came around the end of a great log, followed by Kazan."

And Kazan, too, was curious. He sniffed. In the gloom his ears were alert. After a little Barre began to move. An inch at a time he dragged himself away from Gray Wolf's side. Every muscle in her little body tensed. Again her wolf blood was warning her. There was danger for Barre. Her lips drew back, baring her fangs. Her throat trembled, but the note in it never came. Out of the darkness two yards away came a soft, puppyish whine, and the caressing sound of Kazan's tongue.

Barre had felt the thrill of his first great adventure. He had discovered his father.

This all happened in the third week of Barre's life. He was just eighteen days old when Gray Wolf allowed Kazan to make the acquaintance of his son. If it had not been for Gray Wolf's blindness and the memory of that day on the Sun Rock when the lynx had destroyed her eyes, she would have given birth to Barre in the open, and his legs would have been quite strong. He would have known the sun and the moon and the stars; he would have realized what the lightning flashing in the sky. But as it was, there had been nothing for him to do in that black cavern under the windfall but stumble about a little in the darkness, and lick with his tiny red tongue the raw bones that were strewn about them.

The sun was straight above the forest when, an hour or two after Kazan's visit, Gray Wolf slipped away. Between Barre's nest and the top of the windfall were forty feet of jammed and broken timber through which not a ray of light could break. This blackness did not frighten him, for he had yet to learn the meaning of light. Day and not night, was to fill him with his first great terror. So quite fearlessly, with a yelp for his mother to wait for him, he began to follow. If Gray Wolf heard him, she paid no attention to his call.

"Lillies of Field" Is Human Interest Film at Richmond

There came to the Richmond theatre yesterday a picture that we urge all of our readers to see, because in our estimation it has not been excelled as an emotion-stirring photodrama, and because it contains the finest cast that we have ever beheld in a single production.

The offering is "Lillies of the Field," a First National picture co-starring Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle, supported by Sylvia Brainer, Myrtle Stedman, Anna Bennett, Crauford Kent, Charles Murray, Phyllis Haver, Cissy Fitzgerald, Edith Ransom and Charles Gerrard. All of those names are familiar to you and we believe you will agree with us that they represent a cast of unusual excellence.

"Lillies of the Field" was adapted from the stage success by William Hurlbut, and was directed by John Francis Dillon, who made "Flaming Youth."

If we have ever seen a screen story with such gripping quality we cannot recall it. "Lillies of the Field" is the life story of a beautiful young wife who, patiently bearing mistreatment at the hands of her husband, is deserted by him and rebuffed of her child. Unable to find them she resigns herself to her fate and tries to untangle the snarled skein of life. A great love comes into her life just as she is being sucked into the whirlpool of forgetful gaiety, and through this love the happiness she has lost is restored to her.

There is a humanness about this picture which will endear it to all those who see it.

Other features on the same program include "Wandering Wastelings," a Mack Sennett comedy; "Prizma," a screen magazine.

"The Devil's Cargo" Is Thrilling Film At The California

What is "The Devil's Cargo?" It's Victor Fleming's latest production for Paramount, which is the feature today at the California Theatre, featuring Pauline Starke, Wallace Beery, William Collier, Jr., and Claire Adams with Raymond Hatton and others appearing in support.

Wallace Beery has his greatest screen role in this picture, an adaptation of the story, "The River Boat," by Charles Whittaker. He plays the role of a massive stoker on the river out which is chartered by the vigilantes of Sacramento to deport the town's undesirables. There is a running-on board and Beery comes on deck to find the captain slain. He takes the little first mate, a part played to perfection by Hatton, and tosses him into the sea, dons the captain's hat and assumes command. Here's the situation: Two young girls and one good man drift in the middle of the Pacific with a cargo of the lowest sort of human beings.

See this one and you see a real picture. Other features on the same program include "Sea Legs," a Christie comedy; "International News," Larry C. Canel, at the organ.

The Harbor rooming house, including lease and furnishings, have been purchased by D. W. Curran, a Los Angeles business man, who intends to settle here, and who is accompanied by his wife. The property was bought from Mrs. S. A. Preston, and is located at 514 MacDonald avenue.

Hotel Site to Be Selected Friday

A site for the proposed community hotel will be decided upon at 11 o'clock Friday morning, when the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce meet. There are several sites under consideration by the site committee and it is expected that a definite settlement of the question will be made on that day.

Price considered Essex gives the utmost in transportation value. By all means learn the facts. Ask Essex owners. Take a ride. Note its smooth performance, not surpassed by any car. How simply it handles. How luxurious its riding ease. Then think of its price. And consider that two of every three buyers of Essex cars come to it from those who formerly owned cars whose chief appeal is low cost.

Surely you cannot be satisfied with less than Essex offers. Its cost is but little more than cars of the lowest price.

That Other Ten Cents

High grade motor coach operation, without taxation or any overhead expenses, costs about 17 cents a mile.

At this price, scarcely more than the expense of a private machine, we are able to give excellent service, on regular schedule, rain or shine, to many portions of our communities that otherwise would suffer much inconvenience.

Property values are definitely increased by these services. It's better every way to have them.

The trouble is, our revenue from them is only seven cents a mile. That leaves us ten cents a mile short, and revenues from the remainder of our services are not sufficient to make up the deficit. Besides, our cross-town services already cost twice as much as our main line service.

It is our purpose to maintain these services, as part of "the best transportation service in America," if they are really useful to you.

We ask your regular support and patronage.

Let's Try to Explain This
Amazing Success

The greatest value on the market—that's the public opinion of the Chrysler, because of the record volume of business it enjoyed in its first year; because of the enthusiasm of its owners and its wonderful records of performance.

The advantages the Chrysler Six offers—advantages hitherto unobtainable—in performance, riding qualities, style and economy have proved irresistible. They have inspired an amazing chorus of public approval the like of which has never before been known in the industry.

It is not alone dashing performance, flashing speed, delicate riding qualities of a surprising nature that have captured the public. Every man who has ever ridden in the Chrysler and any other automobile keenly appreciates what Chrysler engineers have accomplished in the production of superlative performance combined with unusual economy, of riding ease and roominess with compact design and the conservation of space, size and weight.

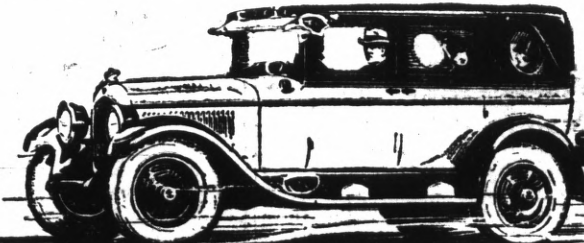

You will be as eager and as enthusiastic as any to contribute to Chrysler's growing success once you have given this new type of car. Don't miss a demonstration in the amazing Chrysler.

Daily Cross Word Puzzle

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white space remain uninterruptedly.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

THE NEW BOOK SHELF AT THE LOCAL LIBRARY

The following new books will go into circulation at the public library Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. Included in the collection are five new fiction. If there are any of them that interest you especially, call at the library or telephone and have them reserved for you.

KAEMPFERT, Editor—A Popular History of American Invention, 1914. "A series of eight debates or sets of arguments, representative of the intercollegiate activities of 1923-24. These debates have been chosen because of the good material they present for critical study and because the subjects covered are likely to continue in interest."

GEISTER—What Shall We Play? 1924. "A group of jolly games, which may help to meet any emergency that may arise. There are noisy and quiet games, games for hot weather, rainy days and games for the sick-a-bed; for children from one year to sixteen."

LEONARD—First Aid To Animals, 1924. "Mr. Leonard believes that the misfortunes of dumb animals have, apparently been left to professional care even to this day." Therefore, he has written a volume entirely for the layman, who loves animals and wishes to add them. "First aid to animals" is written in a clear, simple manner, so may be easily used in any emergency, without assistance from a veterinarian."

ADAMS—So Much Velvet, 1924. "A new collection of selected verses from Adam's popular 'Conning Tower' column in the New York World."

TILLEY—The Modern Golfer, 1924. "A most informative book written by the well known English golfer. It is in two parts: part one being devoted to golf instructions, showing methods of play and the exact uses of the various clubs, while part two gives an interesting account of the golf experiences of the author."

HURSTON—Coasting Down East, 1924. "A delightful description of the Maine coast, replete with history, legend and romance."

MUMFORD—Sticks and Stones, 1924. "A study of architecture and city development in America as a reflection of our civilization," showing some of the influences that have shaped the architecture of New England villages, southern towns, etc. The effects of industrialism on these places is also shown."

FORD—Joseph Conrad, 1924. "Former literary collaboration and association has given the author keen insights into the character and ideas of Joseph Conrad. Going over the years in an unchronological manner, he has given an intimate portrayal of Mr. Conrad, showing him at work and at play. A series of vividly portrayed incidents help to make the book most entertaining."

Our only regret is that we haven't enough of these bloomers for every woman in town to store in a supply. These bloomers have elastic at the knees and waist. Ruffle bottom. Contrast stitching. 54 inch seat and reinforced crotch. Dainty patterns in flesh and white. Sizes 27 and 29 49c

Packed in Sanitary Boxes

This is one of the very few times that this quality of men's handkerchiefs is priced this low. Made of carefully selected fabric with a non-irritating soft finish. Serviceable and easy to launder. Quarter inch hem. Thirty people will buy these by the half dozen. Size 2 for 25c

Plain White Handkerchiefs for Men!

You will wonder how we can offer such a fine grade of handkerchief at such a low price. These are made of soft finish pre-brunk clean carded yarn and contain no filling of any kind. They are just as desirable after laundering as when new. 9c

Flush the Kidneys Before Breakfast

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage of attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

BEAUTIFICATION FAIRMEDE GOLF COURSE STARTED

A contract for the planting of 5,400 trees and shrubs and for the parking of the clubhouse grounds has been awarded by the Fairmeade Golf Club to the MacLorie-Melaron Company. Work has been started and beautification of the links and ground will be completed before April 1, the opening date of the club, according to E. S. Rust, secretary.

Three carloads of trees will be planted on the links and along the road leading to the clubhouse. The parking plan calls for groups of trees throughout the 120 acres of the links. These tree groupings will be so placed as to beautify the hills, but will in no way interfere with golf play, it is stated by E. H. Mick, club representative of the company. Some of the newly planted trees will be twelve feet tall.

A special parking plan has been worked out for the club house grounds, the swimming pool and the putting course. Ornamental shrubs, roses and other decorative plants will be used. Climbing roses will be planted about the clubhouse and trained up over the building.

At present the rolling hills upon which the links is being constructed are barren. The trees and shrubs will convert an otherwise treeless tract of land into a carefully planted park, according to officials of the club.

Playground Ball League Proposed

A playground baseball league is to be formed by G. D. Miner and "Doc" Seawright, physical instructor at the Roosevelt Junior high school in the near future. Students of the Roosevelt school and also boys who frequent the Grant and Peres playgrounds will be formed into a league and will play games at the Peres diamond according to Miner who is the supervisor of the Grant playground.

When the baseball practice starts at the Roosevelt school today, three teams will be organized, the first, second and lightweight team, according to report from Miner yesterday.
